

Reading 'Our Way' for World Book Day

What a busy and exciting week it's been at Staples Road School! We enjoyed a wonderful World Book Day celebration yesterday, focusing on 'reading our way' which was this year's theme. In our assemblies, we found out that Mr Johnston likes to read in the garden, wearing his favourite slippers, whereas Mrs Dawson likes to read under a blanket with a torch! The children shared how they like to read which included reading with siblings, reading outside and even reading in the bath!

Also this week, our netball teams showcased incredible teamwork and skill against Hereward, making us all proud. In the classrooms, Ladybird Class blossomed with their observational flower drawings, while Hedgehog Class crafted impressive sharks inspired by 'Lark the Shark.' Badger Class took a fascinating trip through time, researching and creating a fantastic poster on Victorian toys. In addition, Robin Class truly immersed themselves in the Stone Age with a day of den building, fire making, and berry stew cooking in the forest. Also, Goldfinch Class transformed their classroom door into a stunning recreation of 'The Secret Garden' cover while Willow Class enjoyed a unique online experience with the Royal London Opera House, exploring the world of opera. Finally, Beech Class explored extinct creatures through the interactive app, Nearpod. Well done to everyone for such a fantastic week of learning and creativity!
